

Certificate of Teaching Mastery

Self-Assessment Activity (to be completed at the end of each CTM course)

This Self-Assessment Activity provides an opportunity to reflect on the following:

1. Your work in the course,
2. Your blog as a place where you document your progress,
3. Your journey towards the Personal Learning Objectives (PLOs) that you identified at the beginning of the course.

This activity consists of four questions. Please respond to these questions on your blog. You can address all four questions in one entry or post a single entry for each question. Your mentor will provide feedback soon after the response is posted on your blog. We hope that this activity will be an opportunity to reflect on your progress and experiences as a CTM Candidate and also to engage in a conversation with your mentor.

1. Has my understanding of teaching and learning changed as a result of my work in this course? Explain by referring to specific examples.
2. Review your blog posts for this course and ask yourself the following questions: Is there an entry, a comment, or a discussion that I am very proud of? Is there something that I struggled with? Explain why.
3. Review your blog posts for this course, your comments and discussions that you participated in. Then, ask yourself: What do all these posts suggest about me as a teacher and as a learner?
4. Has my work in this course helped me work towards my personal learning outcome(s)? What have I done to move closer to accomplishing my goals? Are these specific tangible accomplishments or habits/dispositions that I have developed/am developing? Is there anything that is blocking or slowing down my progress?
